

Environmental Science and Terrestrial Resource Management

ESRM 495 / 496 Senior
Capstone Posters
Winter 2018

March 8th

Thursday

2pm – 4pm

Anderson 207

The Antiquities Act in the North Cascades: Candidates for National Monument Designation

~A. Forsgaard / Prof. Bradley

The Effectiveness of Cameras to Assess Bird Species Richness At Urban, Suburban, and Rural Residences

~N. Furner / Prof. Marzluff

An Analysis of Washington State Residents' Attitudes Regarding the Gray Wolf

~M. Kather / Prof. Rabotyagov

How Do Adventitious Canopy Roots Actively Help with Photosynthetic Activity and Survival?

~D. Liebel / Prof. Kim

Using Endophytes to Increase Plant Salt Tolerance

~S. Parikh / Prof. Doty

Is Subalpine Fir Mortality Correlated with Site Index in the Central Rocky Mountains?

~L. Semler / Prof. Harvey

Do Land Ownership Type and Management Practices Effect Species Richness Across the Urban to Wildland Gradient in Western Washington?

~N. Ulacia / Prof. Wirsing

T.B.A.

~R. Wisch / Prof. Turnblom

The Composition and Interactions of Scavengers on a Humpback Whale (Megaptera novaeangliae) Carcass in Glacier Bay National Park, Alaska

~K. Young / Prof. Prugh

School of Environmental and Forest Sciences

UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON

College of the Environment