

BE 220

CITIES, HEALTH, AND WELL-BEING

Winter 2019 | Tues/Thurs 3:30-4:50
GWN 301 | 3 credits | I&S

SLN 10944

BE220 explores how cities contribute to health and well-being, including security, basic needs, positive social relations, freedom, choices and opportunities. It evaluates an urban future and debates strategies for rehabilitating existing cities and building new, sustainable ones. Lecture and group discussions.

For additional information contact drbobm@uw.edu